I would go to the writers let them teach me!

We all know Russian (at least, our readers, we hope that they know). And everyone wrote essays at school. So, in fact, any adequate person living in Russia and Russian-speaking countries, no, no, yes, he can connect a couple of words.

And if it can, is it possible to earn money on this matter on the creation of texts? Does someone make money on texts?

Today, together with the Detective, we will figure out to whom, how much and where they pay for the texts. Which texts are in demand and which are not. How to build your own earnings on the texts? Who will pay you the money?

We read the article, enlighten and learn to earn!

Earnings on the texts

Earnings on the texts: myth or reality? To begin with, let's figure it out: they really pay for texts on the Internet and is it possible to earn any decent money on this?

Virtual space consists primarily of a word (text) and a picture. Everywhere, on absolutely every website, service, portal, social network, etc. there are texts. And there's no getting around it.

Therefore, among online professions, specialists in creating a unique text are in demand. The word has great power, you know!

So, texts on websites (as well as in social networks) perform two main functions: infotainment and selling. And, first of all, it is selling texts or indirectly selling texts that are in great demand. Because, in fact, 90% of sites and groups in social networks sell something: if not a product, then services, if not services, then training, if not training, then information, if not information, then something else.
