

First time in the first year: advice to student

With the beginning of the school year at yesterday's applicants who i can't write my essay broke into the ranks of the students, kicks off the adult, independent life with new acquaintances and regulations.

First of all the University, from the realization of which largely depends the success of learning. In the chosen institution, which in the next 4-5 years will become a second home, it is not so, how was school.

It is important teachers are called teachers, instead of the cabinets; the audience, and the lessons, that is, couples continue to a half hour! There is no classroom teacher to deal with every student, however, has a supervisor who will monitor, and if necessary to suggest (but not to solve your problems).

Now pay for their actions only to you. However, as experience shows, not all students are ready for it, and feeling the taste of freedom, changing right before your eyes...

Near us there are many educational institutions, so we see how to live and what some of the students. Sorry mom, that during the opening of the campaign, leaving their gardens in the summer farms was accompanied for exams son or daughter, if they get scared and uncomfortable in the big city.

But feeling "urban", children immediately forget where and who they are, and often even hesitate to take to visit your parents... just Be yourself, don't act arrogant! Otherwise you risk not only stay without new friends and lose old.

Do not have bad habits? Great. I am ashamed to be someone who is proud of them. Do not give in to temptations, say, to smoke for the company. Already a 2-3 course will understand: the Council is not just to be witty.

As the roll call of the students do not all teachers, and sometimes I want to skip classes. However, senior students are advised not to do that in the first year. Of course you shouldn't skip the seminars, laboratory works and tests. Anyway, take they have.

As students say, each missed lecture "catch" you during the session. So remember the rule: first you work for the record book, then it works for you. And learn first thing you need for yourself.

Not to get into such a ridiculous situation as my friend, and all of our teachers you should know not only by name and patronymic in the face, but also to respect. So, one day the teacher was late, so the group of students was waiting for him at the audience, meanwhile, were all acquainted with each other, so a perfect silence, of course, was not.

As a friend stood on the edge, she made a remark to a man, and she replied not too politely. As it turned out later; it was the Dean of the faculty, who then taught them discipline. Fortunately, he was a man forgiving.

As in school, in your group should be the chief. However, if they offer you this important mission, please note that the duties of its much wider than at school.

So, he is responsible for the magazine, cooperates with the student Council and the trade Union Committee represents the interests of the group in the Dean's office, decides overall issues with the teachers; in a word, is the mediator, therefore, must have organizational skills and, of course, be an example in study.

And take an active part in public life of the University, be friendly; and the College years will be remembered as a happy and unforgettable!
